

32 The current I in a metal wire is given by the equation

$$I = Anvq.$$

What does the symbol n represent?

- A the number of charge carriers in the wire
- B the number of charge carriers per unit cross-sectional area of the wire
- C the number of charge carriers per unit length of the wire
- D the number of charge carriers per unit volume of the wire