

- 28 Coherent light of constant wavelength is incident normally on a double slit. Interference fringes are formed on a screen that is a fixed distance from the double slit. The screen is parallel to the double slit.

The separation of the slits is varied.

Which graph best shows the variation with slit separation  $a$  of the spacing  $x$  of the interference fringes?

