

- 9 In which situation is total linear momentum always conserved?
- A in all collisions between two objects
  - B in collisions between two objects moving at equal and opposite velocity
  - C in collisions between two objects that form an isolated system
  - D in collisions between two objects with the same mass