

- 17 Water can exist in three states: solid, liquid or vapour. Transitions between these states can involve melting, freezing, evaporation or boiling.

Under conditions of constant pressure, which transition can occur over a range of temperatures rather than at one fixed temperature?

- A boiling
- B evaporation
- C freezing
- D melting

Space for working