

- 37 A voltmeter is used to monitor the operation of an electric motor. The motor speed is controlled by a variable resistor. A fixed resistor is used to limit the speed.

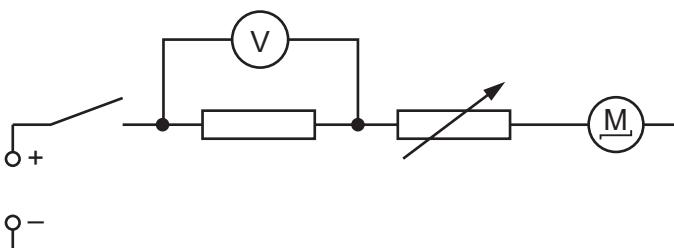

The current in the motor is gradually changed.

In which circuit is the voltmeter reading proportional to the current in the motor?

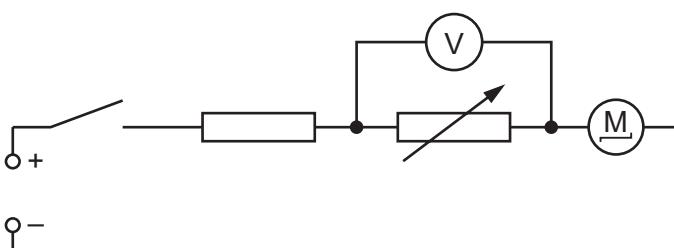

A supply

B supply

C supply

D supply

