

- 35 Which graph best represents the way in which the current I through a thermistor depends upon the potential difference V across it?

Space for working