

29 What physical quantity would result from a calculation in which a potential difference is multiplied by an electric charge?

- A electric current
- B electric energy
- C electric field strength
- D electric power

30 The current in a component is reduced uniformly from 100 mA to 20 mA over a period of 8.0 s.